Did you know that some stories only live in the memory of people? You can help collect these memories by asking your parents and grandparents about their favorite fairy tales from when they were children.